

Contemporary Showcase Edmonton Society

A Festival of Music of Canadian Composers

Greetings!

Contemporary Showcase Edmonton offers unique and exciting programs that would benefit from your support. May we interest you in considering a contribution?

Contemporary Showcase, held in November throughout various centers in Canada, is a music festival with noncompetitive classes giving students a chance to share and discover music by contemporary classical Canadian composers. Students receive an educational critique from highly experienced clinicians, who are often composers themselves.

Contemporary Showcase Edmonton also runs a Young Composers Program in October for students to learn to compose music. Previous mentors have been established Canadian composers such as John Estacio, Allan Gilliland and Juno Award winner Malcolm Forsyth.

Detailed information about our programs can be found on our website, www.csedmonton.com and its parent organization www.acnmp.ca. Please feel welcome to contact me with questions at artdog@shaw.ca.

Contemporary Showcase Edmonton is run entirely by a committee of volunteers contributing an estimated $12,000 in 700 volunteer hours.

Ways to donate:

- Sponsor a class for $50
- Purchase an ad for your business in our festival programs:
 - $25 for small (business card): 3.5" x 2" or 2" x 3.5"
 - $50 for medium (¼ page): 3.5" x 4" or 7" x 2"
 - $100 for large (½ page): 7" x 4"
- Offer a scholarship of $50 - $500
- Sponsor a clinician for $500

Send payment by e-transfer to treasurer@csedmonton.com. Include a note that it is a payment for advertising. Email ads to advertising@csedmonton.com.

We appreciate annual or one-time donations of any amount. Your sponsorship will be acknowledged on our website's homepage throughout the year and in printed programs.

Thank you for considering supporting our programs. 100% of your donation will be used to support Edmonton music students and in turn promote Canadian composers and their music.

Thank you!!
